

While you Were Sleeping

words: Matt & Burchie/ music: Burchie

While you were sleeping while you were sleeping, the winds slowed to whispers the rain gently fell;
darkness the blanket, starlight for comfort,
your dreams are mysteries from deep in the well.

When you awake, we will share all our dreams:
ones that came creeping, those that came leaping,
while you were sleeping and the rain gently fell.
Momma and Poppa, dream on the sofa ,while you were sleeping in bed, dreaming too.
Lilly and Spencer, curl on the armchair, seem to have joined you in slumberland too.

When you awake we will share all our dreams:
ones that came creeping, those that came leaping,
while you were sleeping and the rain gently fell.
